Dear Nona

Dear Nona,
Is it possible for a 19-year-old to be an alcoholic? Signed, Sot

Dear Sot,
Yes, it's possible. But remember the words of the famous Greek poet:

The sky drinks from the water
The clouds drink from the sky
The soil drinks from the clouds
Why should I stand by and go dry?

Dear Nona,
I am a very insecure person.

What can I do to gain confidence?
Signed Insecure,

Dear Insecure,
First you've got to figure out why you're insecure. Then you're be able to stop doing all the things that make your insecurities show. Such as bringing your teddy bear to 3rd period English.

Confidential: Remember, Nona answers all letters in fun. If you have a real problem, seek free advice from the college counseling service.

Specialist degree in ed. admin. now available

Winona State College now has a "sixth year" specialist degree program in educational administration.

With approval from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for implementation of the Ed. S. program last fall, Winona State joined two other colleges and the University of Minnesota as the only Minnesota educational institutions offering the program, according to Dr. DuFresne. The President also stated, "With the aid of an outside consultant (Dr. Bob Woods, University of Missouri dean of education), our institutional resources have been expanded to support a quality program without weakening the undergraduate or master's degree programs."

The specialist's degree program, offering 45 credits beyond the master's degree level, is designed for elementary and high school principals and district superintendents. Requirements for the Ed.S. degree specify advanced courses in school administration and interdisciplinary courses in the behavioral sciences.

The new Winona State program, under development for several years, cuts across departmental lines to offer each student a curricula geared to the administrative role he expects to perform. Courses available from other departments at the college will enable students to structure their Ed.S. program to meet their individual needs. Examples might include sociology offerings on community problems, audiovisual courses in instructional media or selection of audiovisual materials, or health and physical education department offerings on alcohol and narcotics problems. Of a practical nature, the program will also offer students seminars, practicums, internships and other work-related experiences, many of them away from campus.

Dr. Wesley Matson, Dean of Education at Winona State College, said the program is consistent with the recommendations of professional organizations to the State sixth year of advanced graduate study for school administrators be required for their certification in Minnesota, as well as for their membership in professional organizations. The addition of the specialist degree is also consistent with a national pattern.

The Educational Administration department, headed by Dr. Leslie Kloempken, has a staff of five professors to teach courses in administration. Dr. Everett Walden directs the Bureau of Applied Research within the new Educational administration department. Joining Kloempken and Walden as faculty members are Drs. Otto Frank, Archie Beighley and James Keill of the Education department.

Applications for admission to the program are available from the Dean of Graduate Studies at Winona State College.

The Student Senate still has an opening for freshman senator.

Equal rights amendment-- bondage or freedom?

The Minnesota legislature will vote on the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) sometime this month. The amendment must be approved by 38 states to pass, 22 have already done so.

The ERA states:

Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or any State on account of sex.

This means that any law applying to only one sex must be made applicable to both sexes, or abolished completely.

What the ERA will do:

* Equalize the laws relating to alimony, child support, and child custody.

* Make women eligible for the draft;

* Prohibit discrimination by the Government as an employer;

* Extend protective labor laws to apply to men as well as women;

* Widowers will be able to receive the same Social Security benefits that widows do.

* Equalize all laws and punishments pertaining to criminal offenses.

Interpreting the ERA:

* The state law in Minnesota relating to divorce will remain basically unchanged by the ERA.

* All women over 18 years of age must register for the draft, however, women will not have to serve in combat. Pregnant women or women with children will still be eligible for the draft.

The ERA will guarantee equal pay for equal work ONLY in government jobs - federal, state, county, and city. Public schools and state universities are included in this group. Employees of private firms WILL NOT be affected by this law.

* Protective labor laws now applying only to women will be extended to apply to men. For example, a woman is allowed to lift 25 pounds at the present time. Either men will also be allowed to lift only 25 pounds, or the law must be changed so that men and women must lift more.

* At the present time, only the woman can receive the man's Social Security benefits after he dies. Under the ERA, a man will also be able to receive his wife's benefits after she dies.

* A woman will not be able to receive a lighter sentence than a man for committing the same crime or vice versa.

* In Minnesota, a male presently must be 21 to marry without parental consent. Under the new law, he will only have to be 18, or both the male and female age of consent must be 21.

The ERA raises many questions that will be open to the interpretation of the courts. For example:

If the mother and father are both drafted, what will happen to the child? Will the ERA abolish the laws on rape and prostitution? Will a woman be forced to provide half the family income? Will there be integration of the sexes in military barracks and prisons?

Advocates of the ERA believe that passage of the bill will bring many psychological and social benefits to women. As we have seen with the recent civil rights amendment, laws do not change people. Although the ERA allows women legal recourse, women's rights will not become a reality until people change their social values and concepts.

President's Ball proceeds to Heyer scholarship

The sixth annual Winona State College President's ball, to be held at the WSC student union on Feb. 17, will honor the memory of the late Fred Heyer, according to Pat Haugen, publicity chairman. Committee members met recently and earmarked part of the proceeds for the Fred Heyer Memorial Scholarship; the rest will go into the Winona State College Foundation which offers financial aid to needy students.

President's ball chairman, Mrs. W.S. L. Christensen, has been able to secure the Dixieland Jazz Band, the Turkey River All Stars, from Rochester. The All Stars are becoming well-known for their expertise in Dixieland jazz. They won first at the Aquatennial in Minneapolis last summer over the acclaimed Doc Evans band, and have played on the Delta Queen cruises, and were honored by being invited to the Bix Biederbecke three-day festival in Davenport, Iowa.

Students of WSC who might wish to attend the ball can secure tickets from ticket chairman Mrs. Tim Morris at a reduced rate; she may be phoned at 452-7181.

Youth fares abolished

Through the sponsorship of the National Student Lobby and Continental Marketing Corporation, the Coalition to Retain Air Discount Fares (CRADF) has been formed.

On Dec. 7, 1972, the Civil Aeronautics Board announced the results of their Domestic Passenger-Fare Investigation: "that youth standby, youth reservation and family fares are unjustly discriminatory and that family and youth reservation fares are also unreasonable." The Board did defer cancellation of these fares pending further hearing on the question of an adjustment to normal fares.

The purpose of CRADF, in the word of Russell Lehrman, President of Continental Marketing Corporation, a youth fare card sales concern, "will be to alert every traveler affected, advise them that they may lose from 25% to 33% air fare reductions if they don't act now, and provide them with a vehicle to express their views so that they will be heard."

On Feb. 28th a National Student Lobby Conference will be held, with students from all parts of the country in attendance, to consider this problem. At that time, the delegates will visit with their own legislators to urge positive and final action to retain these important fares.

In January, 1968, CAB examiner Arthur S. Present ruled that discount fares limited to persons 12 to 21 years old are "unjustly discriminatory" because age alone isn't a valid distinction between passengers. Shortly thereafter, Mr. Present received mail from college students by the sack load. Their expression of opinion was so overwhelming that the CAB ruled that airline youth fares discounts don't unjustly discriminate against adults. The board put off any decision on a petition to abolish the discounts until a study of whether the fares were reasonable in relation to carrier costs was completed.

Originally youth fares were challenged by National Trailways Bus System, a trade association of bus companies, and by TCO Industries, Inc., formerly Transcontinental Bus System, Inc.

Over $300 million is spent by young people on youth fare tickets annually. Each year over 1 million youth fare cards are bought by young people who believe that they are entitled to its benefits until age 22. If the fare is abolished, privileges of the card would be revoked.

25 cent charge approved

A student admission charge of 25¢ for all Winona State College athletic events will be implemented for the remainder of winter quarter through spring quarter on a "trial basis," it was announced today by the President's office.

Dr. DuFresne approved all three recommendations of the Conference Committee representing the Student Activity Fund Committee and Faculty Senate, including the 25¢ fee, a review of the plan by the Student Activity Fund Committee during spring quarter, and a referendum by the Student Senate to ascertain student opinion.

'U' students on committees

Ten University of Minnesota students joined the Board of Regents last week as non-voting members of the board's committees.

The students divided themselves among the Regent's five standing committees and will serve through June when the student representation plan will come up for review. The students will not have voting power and will not sit on the Regent's executive committee.

The students just chosen for committees will sit for the second year in what the Regents has said is an experiment in student representation on the board.

The Regents voted last summer to continue the seating of students on committees for a second year. Student groups at each of the University's five campuses met during the fall to nominate candidates.

On the Twin Cities campus the student assembly formed an ad hoc committee to nominate students. The nominations from each campus were reviewed by the Student Senate Consultative Committee before they were forwarded to President Malcolm Moos for final approval two weeks ago.

The technical colleges at Crookston and Waseca each have one student serving on committees, the campuses at Duluth and Morris each have two students and the Twin Cities campus has four representatives.

Recently there has been quite an uproar over eleven staff reductions at Winona State College. However, that uproarious action has been detrimental to the cause of the "WSC Eleven," if there is even a cause at all. How about some positive things?

It is interesting to note that the eleven staff reductions are being carried out at Winona State, not because of a large enrollment loss here, but because of a large drop in enrollment in the whole state college system.

What that means is that should the student enrollment at Winona State stabilize and be the same number next year as it is at the present time, the administration of this college would be justified in hiring new staff to make up for any shortages created by the letting go of the eleven this year.

Obviously, someone is getting screwed. And as usual, it is the little guy, the instructor who is being given the axe this year.

Once again an unfair situation exists. It seems absurd to this writer that while dismissal of staff is based upon the whole outlook in the state college program, the hiring of new staff is based upon the needs of the individual college.

What can we as students do about it? Well for a beginning write our MSCSA lobbyist Tim Penny. However because of the low budget Tim is operating on we must do more.

For example, it has been reported that two of the eleven are definitely going to have hearings in the near future. A large student turnout at those hearings will indicate much student support and concern, something that will be hard to ignore.

Or write as many legislators as is possible demanding a change in the procedure of staff reduction.

At least do something more constructive than one person has done by painting the Performing Arts Building.

Yours truly came across an interesting verse last night. It sums up one hundred percent my feelings toward the barbarous policies America has carried out in Southeast Asia. Hopefully the verse speaks your feelings too.

While in Southeast Asia, America has taken lives.

If a humanitarian nation were there for the same amount of time it would plant rice.

If that nation decided to stay and help for fifty years it would plant trees.

If it were to help for one hundred years that nation would educate men. But alas, America has only destroyed life.

JEROME

by Jerome
Christensen

I was going to write about Vietnam. I wanted to shock and horrify you with the vicious details of America's barbarous saturation bombing. I wanted to make you sick with descriptions of the needless suffering of a brave and valiant people. I wanted to make you know.

But I knew you knew. And I knew that all my words could not be as vivid as a three minute shot on the CBS Evening News. But you didn't react.

So I cried. Out of years of frustration and despair I wept for my people. Where is the soul of a people who allow such things to be done in their name? How can a people tolerate such waste, such inhumanity and claim membership in the family of man? How can a people support that lying bastard who desecrates the White House by his very presence? I can't understand. And I am ashamed.

I am ashamed to be an American. I am ashamed of what my country is doing. Ashamed because we, the people, aren't able, or willing, to stop it. American democracy is dead. The American republic is a farce. We have come face to face with Dick-tatorship; the continuing rule of lies.

But despair alone is self defeating. Its antidote is positive action. We must try again and again to stop the juggernaut. It has crushed too many lives already. Soon it will crush us.

Don't listen to those who say we can't do anything. Don't listen to the liars who claim "peace is at hand" while the bombers destroy Bach Mai Hospital. The Dick wants us to stay home, drink our beer, and watch "Marcus Welby" with our minds and mouths closed. But I won't do that sick-minded pig that favor.

What we can do is necessarily limited by our resources. Most of us have little but our bodies to put on the line. So we must put them there. Humanity demands it. Whatever we can do, we must do.

So I'm going to St. Paul January 20th Inauguration day. I won't be alone. Thousands more are coming. Together we are going to tell Richard Nixon that he is not the president of OUR country. We're going to tell King Dick I that the honor of America has been destroyed by the tons of bombs that destroyed Hanoi, Haiphong and the lives of the innocents who lived there. We're going to say, for the twenty millionth time "Out Now!"

I don't know if he'll listen. I doubt it. But he might. That chance is worth the effort. The millions of dead demand that I try. I hope you will be there with me.

A couple of months ago the Surgeon General withheld a report from the public on the effects of coffee on a person's health.

Two weeks ago someone let it leak out that coffee, specifically the caffeine in coffee, can cause a heart attack.

Later that same day, another professor from a British university said that he had discovered milk was bad for a person's health.

This morning Professor Clyde C. Gout, author of the best selling book, "All You Wanted to Know About Food but were Afraid to Ask," announced the ultimate discovery "Trix" he said, "is an aphrodisiac; it is definitely not for kids."

"The Beauty of Art is Truth, Progression II," Coulter-Rendahl show, opens in Watkins Gallery

Nancy Coulter and Roy Rendahl, seniors at Winona State, opened their senior art show in Watkins Gallery on Sunday. Entitled "The Beauty of Art is Truth, Progression II," the show consists of works completed since the couple's first show last spring. It includes works in oil, acrylic, watercolor, pencil, charcoal, woodcut, lithography and silk screen.

Miss Coulter, a native of Grand Forks, N.D., and Rendahl, from Austin, both have shown their works at campus art shows and the Minnesota State Fair Fine Arts Show.

Jazzman Charlie Byrd and his Quartet will appear here Jan. 24, event of Concerts & Lectures

Charlie Byrd, whose talent as a jazzman and as a classical guitarist has won him virtually every major award available to a guitarist, will perform in concert with his Quartet on Wednesday, Jan. 24, at 8:15 p.m. in Somsen Auditorium.

His appearance is the next event of the Concerts and Lectures Series, with tickets being distributed beginning tomorrow at the main desk of the Student Union. (one ticket per I.D.)

In the past decade Charlie Byrd has emerged on the international music scene as a guitar giant. One seldom finds a guitarist who works with equal ease in the idioms of both classical music and jazz.

It has been said that Byrd is "a masterful jack of all guitar trades."

Byrd refuses to break down the barrier between the classics and jazz, and will not jazz-up a piece of serious music. "It's a wedding that loses the best of both," he says. "It destroys the fire of jazz—which should be hot-blooded and swing hard—and it makes inferior classical music." Byrd keeps the forms divorced, playing one and then the other.

In recent years Charlie Byrd has been soloist with the Minnesota Symphony, National Symphony, Baltimore Symphony and the Feldman String Quartet. He has appeared on many major television shows including "Tonight Show With Johnny Carson," "Today," "Perry Como," "Mike Douglas," "Kraft Music Hall," "David Frost" and others. Charlie also starred on his own half-hour television show from Washington, D.C., and was the subject of two productions devoted to his unique contribution to American music. Two of the highlights of his career have been performances at the White House.

Byrd and his group play many college concerts every year and perform in night clubs throughout the country. Arrangements for his appearance are being made by the WSC Concerts and Lectures Committee.

Lady Sings the Blues

By Jo Ann Graf

Tonight's your last chance to see the biography of Billie Holiday. The movie credits say the names and events are fictitious—still, Billie's real life story is told.

Born in Boston in 1915, Billie moved to New York at age 14 and became a prostitute. Within a year, she was singing at clubs in Harlem, waiting for her chance to sing at one of the big clubs downtown. She then went on tour with the Benny Goodman band and from there it was uphill all the way. But fame for Billie Holiday meant loneliness and despair, and she spent the rest of her life as a drug addict.

Richard Pryor as the piano player, and Billy Dee Williams as Louis McKay, Billie's lover, both get a star rating. But Diana Ross as Billie steals the show, doing a superb job as actress and singer.

The plot gets bogged down at times, but the music (arranged by Michel LeGrand) makes up for it. Billie's most famous songs are included: "My Man (made famous by Barbara Streisand in 'Funny Girl')," "Don't Explain," "Good Morning Heartache," "God Bless the Child," (made famous by Blood, Sweat and Tears), and her most powerful song, "Strange Fruit."

"Southern trees, that's strange fruit

Blood on the leaves and blood on the root."

The story of Billie Holiday is the story of the coming of age of American music—and that's one beautiful story.

Now showing at the Cinema.

Marlene Dietrich wins another generation of devoted admirers

Marlene Dietrich

By Terry Carlson,
Arts Editor

Marlene Dietrich. A living legend.

At 70 or thereabouts - she will never say - Dietrich has won another generation of devoted admirers. Her one-woman special on CBS last Saturday evening, "Marlene Dietrich - I Wish You Love," grasped us completely and we are hers. There's no way around it.

Displaying that now legendary technique throughout the evening, Dietrich enraptured with little effort the London theatre audience plus millions of television viewers with songs that have been significant to her career.

Opening her show, Dietrich came floating onstage wearing her $12,000, swansdown cape - robe, promptly positioned herself at center stage before a lone microphone and sang "I Get No Kick From Champagne." It was a slow beginning for those of us unfamiliar with the Dietrich style. Still, there was something about her that told us to hang in there a little longer, if only to catch another glimpse of that $12,000 fur draped about her feet as she curtly acknowledged the audience's enthusiastic response. But by show's end, we had been more than sufficiently rewarded for doing so.

Continuing with songs such as the raucous "See What the Boys in the Back Room Will Hve," the adorable "Lili Marlene" and Pete Seeger's "Where Have All the Flowers Gone?," Dietrich delivered an astonishing array of emotions, moving the London audience to bring her back for curtain call after curtain call and showering the stage about her with flowers. Then, with a big smile and a swish of the curtains, she was gone, leaving the ecstatic audience on their feet in applause.

But Dietrich wasn't happy with her first television appearance. Not at all. "They work you to death," she complained and when asked to compare the TV special with her regular live performances, she replied, "Believe me, it ain't as good."

Well, the television audience would probably be overwhelmed by Dietrich's live performance, because they adored her on TV. Marlene, we are forever your admirers. We wish you love.

WHAT'S UP DOC? is an outrageous comedy, totally and intentionally without social significance. It stars Barbra Streisand and Ryan O'Neal.

In WHAT'S UP DOC? Miss Streisand plays Judy Maxwell, a San Francisco girl with an encyclopedic mind, a capricious way of thrusting herself into other people's lives, and enough idiosyncrasies to make your head swim. Ryan O'Neal co-stars as a musicologist on convention with a traveling case-full of primitive rocks. Produced and directed by Peter Bogdanovich (LAST PICTURE SHOW, WILD ANGELS), WHAT'S UP DOC? is a high-spirited comedy, full of word gags, sight gags and Barbra Streisand.

Cox lectures Thursday

Colonel Rodney E. Cox, District Engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers, will speak in Pasteur Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday. In his talk, entitled "Public Enemy No. 1?" Col. Cox will deal with the history, present operations, and future plans of the corps of Engineers. He will also touch upon the environment as an engineer assigned to an organization which deals heavily in environmental considerations.

The St. Paul District, that which Col. Cox heads, is responsible for Corps water resource activities in a major portion of Minnesota and Wisconsin, and parts of Michigan, North and South Dakota, and Iowa.

Colonel Cox received his doctor of philosophy degree in civil engineering from Iowa State University, as well as his master's degree in highway engineering. He received his bachelor's degree in civil engineering from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and is a graduate of the Command and General Staff College and the U.S. Army War College.

Daniel Schorr at SMC

"No one knows what Nixon will do next."

Daniel Schorr, who has been a CBS news foreign correspondent for more than 20 years, spoke at the St. Mary's College Fieldhouse Sunday night.

Schorr's address dealt mainly with his 20 years experience as a foreign correspondent and upon what we can expect with four more years of Nixon.

Schorr related his personal experience dealing with the gathering of information for the news from the Soviet Union government in 1955. Schorr said information was difficult to get in Russia. He continued by saying even when a correspondent acquired information to write a news story, he would have to submit his finished story to a committee to be checked. That committee censored whatever the Russian government wanted withheld from the public.

In 1966, Schorr said he returned to Washington, D.C. viewing it through a foreigner's eyes.

Schorr soon discovered that government public relations men were flooding him with information, something he never experienced in the Soviet Union.

Schorr believes both methods achieve the same results, keeping information from the press. In the Soviet Union information is difficult to get. On the other hand, our government pushes information onto newsmen to keep them from finding out what is really happening.

According to Schorr, Nixon has a tight grip on all government departments so that they all mimic the same things.

Because of CBS investigative reports of the grain deal with the Soviet Union and the Watergate bugging incident, Schorr feels this administration is especially hostile toward CBS.

Schorr also commented on what he feels Nixon's next four years will do to the nation. "Nixon is a Spartan. He is objective, cool, and calm. He will protect the dollar above anything else."

"In talks, Nixon has said this country needs more discipline and less promiscuity. He will run the country like a boarding school."

Schorr believes Nixon's idol is DeGaulle. According to him, Nixon will be as mysterious, strong, and unpredictable as DeGaulle was. "No one knows," he said, "what Nixon will do next."

He continued by saying President Nixon is the greatest president America has had in matters of foreign policy. Nixon can see America's global condition but not America's human condition.

It's a great morning.

My alarm went off, dingalingalingalingaling as it does every morning, and I sleepily turned over and hit the button before my roommate got his hands on it and threw it against the far wall. I climbed down out of the top bunk, and as my feet hit the bare linoleum floor, I knew it was going to be another one of those days. The -20 to -5 degrees variety.

How I envied my roommate, lying under the covers, all snuggled up, and with his electric blanket turned up to at least 10. And I had to go to my eight o'clock class. Bah, humbug, I mean, eight o'clock classes aren't too bad, but on a day when it is -20?

I managed to find my socks and get them on my poor frozen feet before my toes fell off, and I then spent the next few minutes rummaging around for my warmest sweater, some warm jeans and other warm items of clothing. You may wonder why not dig out the long undies. Good question. I even have an answer for you. You can only wear long undies for so many days before they fall off (actually, disintegrate is really the word).

I crept down the stairs as quietly as I could, grabbed a piece of toast, and was ready to set off for another day. At least I thought that I was ready.

I went out, threw my books and other essential items into the front seat of my car, slid behind the wheel, stuck the key in, turned on the key, and surprise my car just did not sound to anxious to start. (I just couldn't imagine why!) I patted the dash, spoke nice words to it, held my breath and tried again. It didn't work.

Then I tried the firm approach. I said, "I'm sorry old buddy, I know we've been through a lot together, and all I ask of you is to please get me through this day also." And I tried again. Still no luck.

I leaned back (but not all the way because the vinyl was mighty cold) and said, "All right you old so-and-so, start!" You guessed it. I didn't.

Then I delivered my ultimatum. "Either you start, or I'll have to walk to school this morning, you @#%&c(&)*."

You guessed it again. I walked.

Cagers breeze past SW State 82-52

MARSHALL, Minn. (Jan. 13)--Winona State, getting scoring from its entire 10-man traveling squad, breezed to an 82-52 Northern Intercollegiate Conference basketball victory over Southwest Minnesota State College here tonight.

Hershel Lewis, returning to the Warrior lineup for the first time since Dec. 29, led all scorers with 18 points. Lewis had missed the Warriors' four previous games because of academic difficulties.

Roscoe Young followed Lewis with 15 points, Mike Urbach added 14 and Gus Johnson chipped in 12 points, 12 rebounds and seven blocked shots.

Ron Evjen, who had been starting in Lewis' spot the last four games, notched eight points in a reserve role.

The Warriors, after a sluggish first two minutes of play, practically sewed up the victory right away as they outscored Southwest 14-0 in a five-minute span to take a commanding 16-4 lead.

The Warriors were never headed after that, building up a 22-point lead at 37-15 before settling for a 39-21 halftime advantage.

A short spurt midway through the second period in which WSC outscored its host 8-0 put the game away as WSC Coach Les Wothke substituted freely.

Frank Belmont, a 6-6 sophomore, paced Southwest with a dozen points and 14 rebound under the boards.

Gals open BB season

Winona State College Women's Varsity Basketball team will open its season against the College of St. Teresa tonight. The meet will be held in Memorial Hall, Winona State College, at 6:30 p.m. The Women's Varsity A-squad is coached by Miss Marge Moravec. The B-squad is coached by Miss Kathy Ceminsky.

The Mustangs, who were only 1-23 last year and were winless in NIC competition, were hampered by the loss of leading scorer Gary Hagemeyer who was unable to play because of a bout with the flu.

WSC wrestlers stung by SDSU in a 33-9 rout

BROOKINGS, S.D. — South Dakota State University, stretching its unbeaten streak to 11 consecutive dual meets, ripped Winona State College 33-9 in a nonconference dual wrestling bout here Saturday night.

The Jackrabbits' three unbeaten wrestlers, Stan Opp at 118 pounds, Don Johnson at 150 and Mike Engels at 158, all chalked up their 11th straight victories.

One of those was Opp's first win ever over Winona's Scott Miller in a 4-2 decision recorded in the third period. Miller had beaten Opp twice in previous meetings.

Winona's lone victories came at 142 pounds where Lynn Babcock pinned Al Noustriys in 7:13 and at 177, where Ernest Middleton decisioned Curt VanMeuren 9-8.

Four of Winona's defeats were recorded in the third period: Miller's, Mal Squires' 8-7 setback at the hands of 134-pound Doug Hayen, Craig Halvorson's 9-5 setback at the hands of 190-pound Dick Eliem and Kevin Immel's 2-1 loss to heavyweight Jim Murray.

The Warriors, now 2-1 in duals, will host Athletes in Action in a nonconference encounter Tuesday night in Winona.

Warriors squeeze past Stout 68-67 in overtime

MENOMONIE, Wis. — A handful of Winona State followers journeyed here Tuesday night for the WSC-University of Wisconsin-Stout basketball game.

Maybe it's a good thing there weren't more Warrior fans scattered among the sparse crowd of some 200 at Johnson Fieldhouse.

The ragged game probably would have sent even more patients to Winona physicians — for ulcers, or a heart attack or two.

THE WARRIORS did win, of course, but not before an obviously inferior Stout squad forced the visitors into overtime, the Blue Devils finally the victims of their own mistakes, 68-67.

Mark Patterson, a 6-1 senior from Winona who replaced Ron Evjen after the latter fouled out with 51 seconds left in the extra period and Stout holding a slim 67-66 lead, proved to be the hero of the night.

After Ken Obermueller's two bonus free throws gave Stout the 67-66 advantage, the Warriors played for one shot, passing the ball as the Blue Devils waited around the perimeter in a zone.

Mike Urbach finally got the ball in the corner and passed over the Blue Devils' heads to Patterson under the basket, who layed in an uncontested basket with 16 seconds left — his only points of the game.

PATTERSON wasn't quite finished, though, as Stout brought the ball down court with enough time to score. Bill Lyons, Stout's best ball handler, took the inbound pass and raced down court.

Patterson remained alongside Lyons until mid-court, when the WSC player finally got in front of him. Lyons, in an attempt to change direction, tripped over his own feet and lost control of the ball. Patterson scooped it up and the Warriors passed it around until the clock ran out.

It was just another heart-stopping finish for WSC, which was forced to go into two overtimes before ripping Moorhead State 73-62 Saturday and which held off nationally-ranked Hillsdale College for a 46-44 squeaker Monday.

It was also Winona's fourth game in five days, three of them on the road. And the effects were obvious as WSC was hard put to hold off the scrappy Blue Devils.

"IT WAS OUR worst game of the season," lamented WSC Coach Les Wothke, who in his attempts to reason with the officials was called for two technical fouls. "And I hope it's our worst for the next 10 seasons."

"I really think we went up to play. But we were cold right away and the players got frustrated because the officials weren't calling the turnovers. I could conservatively count 30 traveling violations."

"We played just outstanding defense, but it didn't do us any good because the officials wouldn't call anything. It frustrated us in both phases of our game."

The Warriors, collecting their sixth straight victory, went scoreless for more than the first 5:30 of play and trailed 9-1 with 14:05 left in the first half. But they slowly whittled away the lead until Mike Urbach's jumper from the corner with six seconds remaining gave WSC a 30-29 lead at halftime.

WSC STARTED the second half as if they were going to blow Stout off its own floor, jumping to an 11-point lead at 42-31 in the first three minutes.

But Stout came back to tie it up at 52-all on a free throw by Lyons and took the lead when Lyons connected on a technical foul free throw with 8:23 left to play.

The lead see-sawed back and forth until Steve Zmyewski's charity toss put Stout ahead 60-54 with 4:44 left. Buckets by Urbach and Mel Halbert brought WSC within two before Obermueller dumped in two more free throws with 2:56 left.

But WSC tied it up on a bucket by Halbert and a tipin by Gus Johnson with 17 seconds left, knotting the score at 62-all.

WHILE STOUT then proceeded to play for one shot, Obermueller—who hit 12 of 18 free throws and finished with a game high 26 points, 20 over his average — was fouled by Evjen. But, in another costly mistake, Stout's Gary Luecke stepped into the lane after the official gave Obermueller the ball in a bonus situation.

The violation turned the ball over to Winona, which missed an attempt to score, sending the game into overtime.

"We were lucky to win it," admitted Wothke, "but we are by far the better ball club."

"Yes, the last three games did take a lot out of us, but I don't think that's an excuse, that's a reason. There was a lot of emotional and physical drain and we were fatigued."

"WE JUST PLAYED a bad game. There's no excuse for playing the way we played. But we won — that's what counts."

WSC wrestlers over Southwest

MARSHALL, Minn. — Winona State, despite a sluggish performance, chalked up its second straight dual meet wrestling victory here Friday night with a 27-12 Northern Intercollegiate Conference win over Southwest Minnesota State.

The Warriors, 2-0 overall, picked up victories in the first four matches, including a forfeit at 126 pounds, and sewed up the triumph with victories in the final two matches.

Scott Miller started things off with a 118-pound triumph over Rick Noer in an 8-4-1 decision, Kelley Stephens won the forfeit at 126; Mal Squires decisioned Rick Pdreik at 134 and Lynn Babcock decisioned Dana Thompson at 142.

The only pins of the night came at 158 pounds where Southwest's Randy Voigt pinned Dick Skaden in 4:59 and at 190 pounds where Winona's Craig Halvorson pinned Jerry Reker in 3:41.

The Warriors were to tangle with powerful South Dakota State Saturday night before returning to Winona to host the equally powerful Athletes in Action. Wednesday night.

118—Scott Miller (W) dec. Rick Noer (S) 4-1; 126—Kelley Stephens (W) by forfeit; 134—Mal Squires (W) dec. Rick Pdreik (S) 7-0; 142—Lynn Babcock (W) dec. DOWNTOWN ON LEVEE PLAZA

The Warrior's Ron Evjen (10) and Gus Johnson (44) work on the defensive aspect of the game as they try to force Hillsdale's Steve Erickson to give up the ball. The Warriors downed the nationally ranked team 46-44 in a game that went down to the last buzzer.

Warriors nudge no. 8 Hillsdale 46-44

Guess what? Winona State can play defense too.

And Winona State, an offensive-minded team that's scored 82.1 points a game and given up 74.8 points a game since Les Wothke became coach three years ago, couldn't have picked a better time to prove it.

The Warriors, beating one of the best in the business at its own game, pulled out a thrilling, tension-packed 46-44 win over Hillsdale (Mich.) College last Monday night.

AN ESTIMATED crowd of 2,800 remained on the edge of its seats throughout the game, the first in WSC's new Memorial Hall gym.

Although the Warriors had to fight for their lives late in the second half, when clutch free throws by Roscoe Young and Mel Halbert broke a 44-all deadlock with four seconds remaining, the deciding factor came in the first half.

Hillsdale, ranked No. 8 among the nation's college division teams in last week's Associated Press poll and piloted by former WSC coach Ron Ekker, went scoreless for an unbelievably long time.

Eleven minutes and 22 seconds to be exact.

The Chargers, who hit six of their first eight shots from the field, looked as though they might blow the Warriors off the floor in the early going, taking a commanding 14-5 lead with 13:40 left in the half.

BUT THEN the Chargers, an extremely well-disciplined group, hit an excruciating cold spell that saw WSC outscore them 18-0 in the next 11:22 of play. The Warriors jumped out to a 23-14 advantage before Hillsdale's Roosevelt York connected on a hook shot with 2:18 left in the half.

"We hit a cold streak," moaned Ekker, whose Chargers brought a 55.9 defensive average into the game. "We had the good shots, but they just wouldn't go in. That was a period where we could have built a lead instead of losing the lead."

"They went cold and I think our defense was tremendous," beamed Wothke, whose Warriors suffered through a four-minute cold streak of their own just before they went on the 18-point binge.

"ROSCOE YOUNG was without a doubt the finest defensive player on the court tonight. He did everything. And Gus Johnson shot the basket off completely."

"We were getting good shots (during WSC's cold streak), but they just weren't getting in the hole. But we made an adjustment on defense during a time out."

The adjustment, sagging Young inside so he wasn't getting caught on a pick, certainly worked. With Young, Johnson and Urbach dominating the boards to the point of ownership and with Evjen getting 10 of his team high 16 points, the Warriors were able to take a nine-point lead into the locker room.

In the second half, however, the Warriors lost some of their momentum and with Hillsdale finally beginning to score and take charge of the offensive boards, the Chargers turned the game back into a nip and tuck battle.

EVJEN pumped in the first bucket of the half to give WSC the biggest lead of the night at 11 points, but the Chargers closed the gap, and took a one-point lead, 44-43, with 4:33 left to play on a jumper by York.

A minute later Johnson knotted it at 44-44 by sinking one of two free throws.

WSC went into a stall with less than two minutes left, interrupted only by a jump ball which Young controlled, before Young was fouled by Ken Gray-er with four seconds remain-

Winona State and Michigan Tech remained the only unbeaten teams in Northern Intercollegiate Conference basketball play after the first full slate of action last week.

The defending champion Warriors, who now have won 12 straight NIC games over two seasons, chalked up their third loop victory Saturday with a relatively easy 82-52 triumph over hapless Southwest Minnesota State.

Southwest, holder of the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association record for most consecutive defeats, 34, has gone winless in 14 games this year.

Michigan Tech., meanwhile, picked up a pair of overtime victories on its home court Friday and Saturday, upending Bemidji State 62-60 and Moorhead State 64-62.

In the only other NIC game played Saturday, Minnesota-Morris, which earlier in the week was ripped by Bemidji 88-56, had to go into overtime before it stopped St. Cloud State 73-66.

Thus far in the nine NIC games played this, six have been decided in overtimes. Every team has been forced to go at least one extra point game, and Moorhead has been involved in three—including a double overtime loss to Winona on Jan. 6.

The Warriors, who set 13 NIC records last season, lead the conference in both offense and defense, averaging 75.5 points a game (compared to last year's 87.2) and allowing an average of 61.0 points a game (compared to last year's 72.6).

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way! It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service) — cash is O.K. — to Information Sources Co., P.O. Box 982, Dept. ST, Carpinteria, Calif. 93013. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!

Mankato downs WSC swimmers

MANKATO, Minn. — Mankato State posted triumphs in the first eight events and then held on to beat Winona State 57-47 in a nonconference dual swimming meet here Tuesday night.

The loss was the third straight for the Warriors, who will host Northern Intercollegiate Conference contender Southwest State Saturday at 2 p.m.

Gary Zinter highlighted Mankato's early surge with a pair of victories in the 50- and 100-yard freestyle events. Bruce Mayer also set a varsity record by winning the 1,000-yard freestyle in 11:07.5, and diver Tom Madura qualified for the nationals with 239.35 points in the one-meter event.

Winona's first win came in the 200-yard backstroke as John Wellumson raced to victory. Tony Hoyt and Dan Picha added individual wins before WSC's 400-yard freestyle relay concluded the meet with a win in 3:35.0.

All-American George Kazika of WSC, who interrupted his eligibility with a stint in the armed forces, entered his first meet since returning.

Southwest swims over the Warriors

Displaying an enviable amount of talent in nearly every event, Southwest State's swimming team coasted to a 74-39 triumph over Winona State in the Memorial Hall pool Saturday afternoon.

Mustang tankers took first in 10 of the 13 events and actually conceded the final relay by swimming on exhibition terms against Winona's foursome of George Kazika, Mark Hoaglund, Tim Rust and Rich McCluer.

The victory was the fifth in six meets for Coach Don Palm's potential Northern Intercollegiate Conference titlists, with the only loss coming by an 83-30 margin against the University of Minnesota.

Winona is now winless in four meets. A pair of sophomores highlighted Southwest's domination in the meet. Dave Broyles, a native of Cheyenne, Wyo., who set NIC records in the 200, 500 and 1,650-yard freestyle events as a freshman, glided to victory in the 1,000-yard freestyle and finished over 81 seconds ahead of his nearest challenger, John Suppon of Winona.

Broyles also took the 100-yard freestyle race with a clocking of 51.66, nosing out Kazika by less than a second.

Warriors nudge Hillsdale

ing. That personal foul was Grayer's fifth and he was forced to leave the game — and thus causing the first substitution on either side. Moments later Grayer was whistled for a technical foul.

Ekker later explained that when Grayer returned to the bench he grabbed a water bottle and as he did the bottom of the bottle accidentally flew off onto the playing court, right in front of one of the officials, causing the technical.

BUT THE technical may have turned out to be one of the decisive factors in the game as it gave the Warriors three foul shots and control of the ball.

Young, in contrast to the two free throws he missed against Moorhead State Saturday night which sent that game into overtime, sank one of his two charity tosses. Then Halbert coolly plopped in the technical for the final two-point margin.

The Warriors put the ball back in play at mid court, but three seconds later Urbach was called for crossing the time line. With just one second left, Hillsdale's Steve Erickson flipped the ball to Tom Adams who's long jumper never even touched the rim.

"We didn't really do anything different in the second half," continued Ekker, "we continued to press man to man. But the reason we caught up was that we started shooting a little better."

"Winona's guards (Halbert and Evjen) played real well."

"REBOUNDING HURT us in the first half, but in the second half, we were turning it around, getting the offensive rebounds and putting the shots back up. So there was no particular person or thing that hurt us."

But the Warriors as a team — it certainly was one of the best team efforts this season — certainly did hurt Hillsdale.

While Young scored only six points and Urbach contributed only five, the two combined for 27 rebounds, with Urbach leading everybody with 15 caroms. Johnson was no slouch either, as he scored 14 points, including nine in the second half, grabbed 14 rebounds and blocked nine shots.

Evjen, in his first start before the hometown fans, garnered game scoring honors for the second game in a row, although he did have to share that honor Monday with Hillsdale freshman Mike Washington, who got 10 of his 16 points in the second half.

"WE GOT OUT of our pattern," Wothke said of the second half, "and we had some mechanical errors and they got some good shots; they started to hit from outside."

"But this was a big win for us — against an outstanding ball club. You just have to admire the way Hillsdale stayed in their offensive pattern and never panicked. They just kept coming right back and coming right back."

Statistically, the game was won at the free throw line, with the Warriors hitting 12 of 21 attempts and Hillsdale two of three.

Both teams were extremely cold from the field, due in great part to each other's defense, as WSC hit 17 of 57, 29.8 percent, and Hillsdale hit 21 of 71, 29.6 percent.

WSC HAD 24 turnovers, including 13 in the second half, to Hillsdale's 15.

The victory was the fifth in a row for WSC, boosting its season record to 8-3. Hillsdale slumped to 7-4.

WHAT DOES ONE DO AT A DANCE IN EDUCATION WORKSHOP ?

Well, as these photographs show, one moves an awfully lot, to a variety of tempos and in a number of positions.

Bruce King, choreographer, was facilitator and Sue Kuchenmeister, faculty member at Winona State, was supervisor of the two-day dance workshop held last weekend in Memorial Hall.
